

GOES TO JAIL FOR LOVE.

Pennsylvania Girl Would Not Give Up
Suitor at Parent's Request.

Special to The New York Times.

YORK, Penn., May 29.—Because she refused to give up her sweetheart, Estelle Stough, 18 years old, was sentenced to jail to-day. The girl was forbidden to meet Scott Lentz, but would not obey.

Miss Stough was arrested for incorrigibility. At the hearing the father and grandfather of the girl told her she would not have to go to prison if she would promise to give up Lentz. She replied she would rather go to jail than give up the man she loved.

Where to find a Furnished Room. See Page 8, Cable Section.

The New York Times

Published: May 30, 1909

Copyright © The New York Times